

Your business is a complex set of inter-related events. One thing could lead to another and cause a domino effect of problems at the same time. This chart shows the relationships and dynamics of your business and can help point you to the actual root cause of a problem. Use this chart to identify the real issue that is the primary contributing factor to issues you are experiencing and focus on the issues that matter most.

